Xpert Opinions Website Cookie Policy

1) Cookies and Similar Technologies

A cookie is a small text file which is placed onto your computer or electronic device when you access our website. Similar technologies include web beacons, action tags, local shared objects ('flash cookies') and single-pixel gifs. Such technologies can be used to track user actions and activities, and to store information about them.

The Xpert Opinions website only uses third party cookies. These do not use or collect any personal or sensitive information including IP addresses. The information they store is not sent to any third parties.

2) Consent for Cookies

Xpert Opinions needs your consent in order to use cookies. The use of cookies is required to provide you with a service and furthermore provide the inherent functionality of the website.

On the first occasion that you access the website, a pop-up will ask you to consent to the use of cookies by clicking a check-box. This preference will then be stored for the future. If you do not consent to the use of cookies, then you should navigate away from the Xpert Opinions website.

3) Third-party Cookies

Xpert Opinions uses the CraftCMS third party application to set cookies on the website. By consenting to the use of cookies, you will be consenting to the use of the CraftCMS cookies.

CraftCMS is used for the development and update of the Xpert Opinions website. CraftCMS provides a simple platform for the upload of new content and documents by the Xpert Opinions website administrators.

For further information, please refer to the CraftCMS website, www.craftcms.com.

4) How to Turn-off Cookies

You can set your browser not to accept cookies and the websites below tell you how to remove cookies from your browser. However, some of the website features may not function as a result.

For further information on cookies visit aboutcookies.org or the Information Commissioner's webpage on cookies ico.org.uk/for-the-public/online/cookies/